RE: Docket No. 06-067, Bay Ring Petition for Investigation into Verizon New Hampshire's Practice of Imposing Access Charges, Including Carrier Common Line (CCL) Access Charges, on Calls Which Originate on BayRing's Network and Terminate on Wireless Carriers' Networks

Dear Ms. Howland:

On February 8, 2007, pursuant to the Commission's Procedural Order No. 24,705 issued November 29, 2006, and subsequently revised procedural schedule issued January 12, 2007, the parties filed financial estimates relating to this case. All parties had been asked to file an estimate of the general order of magnitude of disputed back charges. In addition, Verizon had been asked to provide an estimate of the annual impact to Verizon if the disputed revenue is no longer collected.

This letter is to notify the Commission that AT&T and Verizon are currently discussing a mutually agreeable modification to the AT&T component of Verizon's going forward estimate. Verizon's going forward estimate filed on February 8, 2007, had been based on traffic and usage factors applicable in September and October 2006. However, subsequently AT&T significantly revised its usage factors in a way that causes an appreciable reduction in its traffic subject to the disputed CCL charge. If, as AT&T believes based on its studies, the revised usage factors accurately represent the nature of the traffic, this in turn will cause a reduction in Verizon's going forward estimate.

Although AT&T and Verizon believe that a mutually agreeable result may be obtained, they reserve all their rights, including the right to present competing estimates and traffic and usage factors for the Commission's consideration.

Sincerely,

Jay E. Gruber
