

Pursuant to RSA 363:32 the Commission may designate members of its staff as “staff advocates” and “decisional employees.” Designations are made in specific dockets and generally continue for the duration of the docket. Once designated as staff advocates, such staff members may not communicate concerning the docket with the Commissioners or with decisional employees and vice versa. The only communications allowed between staff advocates and Commissioners or decisional employees are those conducted following a notice and with an opportunity for all parties in the docket to participate.

The following Commission dockets contain staff designations. If you wish to see details on which staff members are designated in these dockets please click on the link below.
