Dear Ms. Debra Howland,

Please consider this written notice of Electricity Analytics (dba PlugWiz), which seeks to provide aggregation services to customers in the State of New Hampshire. Please find responses to the questions on the aggregator application that can be found on (<http://www.puc.state.nh.us/Consumer/energysuppliers.htm>) pursuant to PUC 2003.04 and PUC 2006.02.

Brief description of the applicant:

My name is Andre Ramirez and I'm a cofounder at Electricity Analytics LLC. My fellow cofounder, Christopher Gaudet, and I are planning to start an online electricity shopping and rate comparison site that will allow New Hampshire residents to compare available energy supplier plans with the intent that they may be able to save on their existing bills. This is not a new concept and is one that is beginning to gather traction in other states. Our business model exists in other states across the US and across Europe.

The business started off as a company based on the principals of informing consumers of the costs and benefits of owning a Plug-in Electric Vehicle. Our work caught the attention of James D. Power IV of J.D. Power and Associates as well as other former J.D. Power and Associates Executives who now are involved as advisors and investors.

Relevant experience and other useful information not addressed in the registration:

Both my business partner and I are graduates of M.I.T. and have experience in both the technology and utility industries. I have been active in the utility industry since 2009 when I began employment at Southern California Edison. Chris has worked in technology since 2002 and specifically within the Internet space since 2009.

"No Enrollment" Compliance Statement:

Electricity Analytics has not and will not solicit nor accept enrollments prior to the approval of this application.

Will be addressing requirements for initial aggregator registration from PUC 2003.04 beginning on the next page:

I have addressed all of the requirements for the initial aggregator registration from PUC 2003.04 beginning on the next page.

The original copy of the application, plus the 2 additional copies required by 2006.2 have been included. You will also find an electronic copy of the application enclosed.

Thank you for your consideration of this Registration Application.

Sincerely,
