Fiona Zoe Whalen
1996 - 2010

When I brought you home,
I carried you.

I held you close and made a promise that day.

As I breathed in that sweet, soft, clean smell,
I promised to carry you,
and keep you safe and well.

I laughed and spoke
so quietly to you
I taught you your name

You showed me your heart
And I showed you mine,
as I carried you that day.

When I take you home,
I'll carry you.

I'll hold you close, as I promised that day.

I'll breathe in that old familiar smell and keep my promise to keep you safe and well.

I'll cry as I speak so quietly to you.

I'll say your name

You'll show me your heart.

And I will lose mine, when I carry you, that day.
