

Adam Bernstein

Adam is a graduate of Emory University (BBA) and Dartmouth College (MBA, MS Engineering) and a registered Chartered Financial Analyst. Currently, he serves as a Managing Partner of New Energy Capital Partners, L.L.C. ("NECP"), where he has worked since 2007. While at NECP, Adam has consulted for the federal Department of Energy's ARRA grant program and serves on the Board of Directors of FLS, Inc. and AltAir Fuels. He began his career as an analyst at GE Capital, followed by positions at J.P. Morgan Securities and Florida Power and Light. While enrolled at Dartmouth, Adam co-authored econometric research with its faculty, and today he frequently guest lectures at Dartmouth's business and engineering schools.
