Please continue the current system for net metering in NH, DE 22-060

Those of us with solar are sending excess to the grid when needed, putting less stress on transmission lines and making it less costly for the utilities.

It also gives a little payback to those of us who invested in solar so as to keep the planet a little safer for our grandchildren. It is a difficult transition for homeowners who are trying to make a difference by cutting back on fossil fuels...which are the worst polluters and the major cause of this climate warming.

The utilities are fine and will continue to exist. Help the homeowner.
